About Stripe

Stripe is the easiest way to accept payments on AWS. You don't need a merchant account or gateway. Stripe handles everything, including credit card storage, recurring billing, and direct payouts to your bank account. Integrate in minutes with idiomatic wrappers for Ruby, PHP, Python and more, or use existing integrations with platforms like Wordpress, Magento and Spree. Stripe.js lets you control your payment flow while avoiding PCI requirements. There are no setup fees, no monthly fees, no card storage fees and no hidden costs. You only pay 2.9% + 30 cents for every successful charge. Stripe powers payments for thousands of organizations across the web. Join Shopify, MongoDB and the New York Museum of Modern Art in the Stripe Gallery: <https://stripe.com/gallery>.

The screenshot shows the AWS Marketplace seller profile for Stripe. The browser address bar displays the URL: <https://aws.amazon.com/marketplace/seller-profile?id=cbdb3b66-b0ad-49f9-8e00-7cfed4f5dd6c>. The page header includes a search bar with "AMI & SaaS" selected, a search icon, and a "Sign in" button. Below the header, the Stripe logo is prominently displayed on the left. To the right of the logo, the text "Stripe" is shown in orange, followed by a link to "Visit the Stripe Website". Underneath, it says "Stripe Products (1)" and "showing 1 - 1". A product listing for "stripe Payments For Developers" is shown, featuring a 5-star rating and the text "Sold by Stripe, Inc.". The product description states: "Integrate credit card payments into your AWS stack quickly and easily. Simple REST API with idiomatic client libraries in PHP, Python, Ruby, Java and more. No monthly fees...". Below the product listing, it says "showing 1 - 1". At the bottom of the main content area, there are links for "AWS Marketplace on Twitter", "AWS Marketplace Blog", and "RSS Feed". The footer contains several columns of links: "Software Infrastructure" (Application Development, Application Servers), "Business Software" (Business Intelligence, Financial Services), "Sell in AWS Marketplace" (Management Portal, Sign up as a Seller), "Featured Categories" (SaaS Subscriptions, Windows Server), and "AWS Marketplace is hiring!" (Amazon Web Services (AWS) is a dynamic, growing business unit within Amazon.com. We are currently).
